

RESILIENCE & ROOTS: A BUSHWICK TALE

For years, Bushwick stood frozen as a time capsule awaiting transformation. In the early 2010s, gentrification found its way into the neighborhood with the potential to cease our traditions, stories, and legacy.

This project, spearheaded by Brooklyn Community Board 4 and FCNY's Community Planning Fellow Alicia Blandon, aims to highlight Bushwick's cultural tale through a comprehensive digital archive and preserve its history to ensure the stories are told and the memories aren't lost.
