OBSERVATIONAL STUDY OF MONKEYPOX IMMUNITY (OSMI) - Negotiated Acquisition - Other - PIN# 81623N0051 - Due 5-25-23 at 4:00 A.M.

DOHMH, intends to enter into Negotiated Acquisitions (limited pool) with NEW YORK UNIVERSITY (through its Vaccine and Treatment Evaluation Units), to conduct studies on the Jynneos vaccine being used to respond to Monkey pox.

DOHMH determined, that NYU School of Medicine, was the only viable vendor to perform the required services. The Vaccine and Treatment Evaluation Units (VTEUs) was established by The National institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID), to provide a ready resource for conducting clinical trials of vaccines and treatments for infectious diseases. The VTEUs is a rapid response network, to ensure the capability to test vaccines designed to counteract emerging public health concerns. For more than 60 years, NIAID has conducted and supported basic and applied research to better understand, treat, and ultimately prevent infectious, immunologic, and allergic diseases. This research has led to new therapies, vaccines, diagnostic tests, and other technologies that have improved the health of millions of people in the United States and around the world. The anticipated duration of the contract term will be one year.

Vendors who feel they may be able to provide these services, may submit an expression of interest via email, to Mr. Wang, at mwang3@ health.nyc.gov.

In 1962, NIAID established Vaccine and Treatment Evaluation Units (VTEUs), to provide a ready resource for conducting clinical trials of vaccines and treatments for infectious diseases. There are ten VTEUs nation-wide, with one in NYC, which is New York University School of Medicine. The VTEUs were established, in part, as a rapid response network to ensure the capability to test vaccines designed to counteract emerging public health concerns. An important strength of the VTEUs is their ability to enroll large numbers of volunteers into trials rapidly and vaccinate them in a safe, effective and quick manner. They provide a ready resource for conducting clinical trials of vaccines and treatments for infectious diseases. The Agency has determined that it is in the best interest of the City to utilize a Negotiated Acquisition method of source selection directly with NYU as there are no other organizations or entities that have The National institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID)'s depth and breadth of experience in conducts and supports basic and applied research to better understand, treat, and ultimately prevent infectious, immunologic, and allergic diseases.

Statement of Basis and Purpose of the Proposed Rule

In November 2018, New York City voters approved a ballot initiative proposed by the 2018 Charter Revision Commission that established the New York City Civic Engagement Commission. The proposal was codified as Chapter 76 of the New York City Charter. Chapter 76 directs the Civic Engagement Commission to implement the citywide participatory budgeting program established under section 225-a of the Charter.

The citywide participatory budgeting program promotes the participation of residents in identifying and expressing preferences among recommendations for local projects to be considered for inclusion in the executive budget. Also known as "The People's Money," New York City's participatory budgeting allows all New Yorkers age 11 and up, regardless of citizenship status, to vote on projects to address local community needs.

Pursuant to Mayoral letter, dated March 28, 2023, the Mayor has delegated to the Commission the budget power under section 225-a of the Charter to determine the appropriate local projects that are selected through participatory budgeting. The process set forth in these proposed rules will apply in future fiscal years unless local projects are selected after a timely participatory budgeting process pursuant to sections 225-a and 3202 of the Charter and are enumerated in the executive and adopted budgets.

City residents will be able to vote for local projects in the borough in which they live. In the 2023 cycle, each borough will have the following number of projects on their borough ballot:

- Bronx Ballot: There will be 8 projects listed.
- Brooklyn Ballot: There will be 10 projects listed.
- Queens Ballot: There will be 9 projects listed.
- Manhattan Ballot: There will be 8 projects listed.
- Staten Island Ballot: There will be 4 projects listed.

These proposed rules set forth the procedures and criteria for the citywide participatory budgeting program. Consistent with the Commission's obligation to "provide opportunities for public participation throughout the city" and "establish multiple methods of public participation," these rules provide for the solicitation of ideas for local projects from the public through various means, including convening borough committees. Charter §§ 3202(a)(1)(a), (a)(1)(d).

In furtherance of the Commission's goal of facilitating greater civic engagement in historically underrepresented or underserved communities and across a wide swath of the City's population, local projects must address the needs of certain enumerated communities. To help meet unmet needs, funding is allocated by borough, based on a weighted average of the borough population and the percentage of the borough population that is below the city poverty measure. Consistent with the Mayoral delegation to the Commission, the cost of any project may not exceed the amount determined by the Civic Engagement Commission to be available for such project and sufficient to complete such project. The aggregate cost of all projects may not exceed the total amounts appropriated for local projects, without the approval of the Office of Management and Budget.

Consistent with the Mayoral delegation letter, the Commission retains the final authority to select which local projects are funded in accordance with these rules. Charter §§ 225-a, 3202(a)(1). In making its final selection, the Commission must give due consideration to which local projects received the most votes in each borough.

This proposed rule also repeals the current chapter 2 of Title 73, which governs the minimum age requirement for participation in the citywide participatory budgeting program. The substance of the current chapter 2 is added to section 2-07 of the proposed rule.

The authority for this rule is found in sections 1043 and 3202 of the New York City Charter.

Section 1. Chapter 2 of Title 73 of the Rules of the City of New York is REPEALED and a new chapter 2 is added to read as follows:

§ 2-01 Purpose and scope.

These rules set forth the procedures and criteria for the citywide participatory budgeting program authorized pursuant to sections 225-a and 3202 of the charter. Such rules shall apply unless the executive and adopted budgets enumerate local projects that were selected after a timely participatory budgeting process pursuant to sections 225-a and 3202 of the charter.

§ 2-02 Definitions.

 on your invoice.
- 2. The National Oil Heat Research Alliance (NORA) has been extended until February 6, 2029. A related assessment of $.002 per gallon has been added to the posted weekly fuel prices and will appear as a separate line item on invoices. This fee applies to heating oil only and since 2015 has included #4 heating oil. All other terms and conditions remain unchanged.
- 3. Items 1 4 on contract 4287148 and 5 20 on contract 4287149 are effective as of June 1st, 2022.
- 4. Items 1 4 on contract 4387063 are effective as of December 19, 2022.
- 5. Federal Superfund Tax is included in the DCAS weekly pricing schedule and it should not show as an additional fee.

REMINDER FOR ALL AGENCIES:

All entities utilizing DCAS fuel contracts are reminded to pay their invoices on time to avoid interruption of service. CONSUMER AND WORKER PROTECTION

■ NOTICE

Attention:

Restaurants Delivery Apps Delivery Workers Consumers

We Want Your Feedback on the City's Fee Caps

The Department of Consumer and Worker Protection (DCWP) enforces NYC's Third-Party Food Delivery Service Laws, which cap the fees that third-party apps (delivery apps) can charge restaurants. Fee cap amounts are:

- 15% to deliver the order
- 5% to provide service other than delivery and payment processing
- 3%* to process electronic payment
 *Only exception is if an app pays more than 3% and can show proof.

The laws require DCWP to issue a report on the fee caps.

To inform our recommendations, we want to learn from you.

How You Can Help

- See below for questions for restaurants, delivery apps, delivery workers, and consumers.
- Please email RuleComments@dcwp.nyc.gov by Friday May 26, 2023 with your responses and any other comments about your experience.

Thank you!

REGULATORY AGENDA FOR FISCAL YEAR 2024

PURSUANT TO SECTION 1042 OF THE NEW YORK CITY CHARTER, the Campaign Finance Board hereby publishes its regulatory agenda:

Part 1. Summary of Overall Regulatory Agenda.

The Campaign Finance Board ("CFB" or "the Board") is a nonpartisan, independent City agency that empowers New Yorkers to make a greater impact in elections. The CFB administers the City's campaign finance system, overseeing and enforcing the regulations related to campaign finance and holding candidates accountable for using public funds responsibly. The CFB publishes detailed public information about money raised and spent in City elections by candidates and independent spenders, and engages and educates voters through community outreach, the Voter Guide, and the Debate Program. The Board's rules support these activities.

Part 2. Anticipated Rules to be Included in Agency's Regulatory Agenda.

(1) Provide brief description of the subject area(s) of the proposed rules.

Subject areas for proposed rules may include simplifying and streamlining disclosure, reporting, and recordkeeping requirements; safeguarding the disbursement of public matching funds; transition and inaugural activities; penalty assessments; contributions by individuals and entities; contributions by persons doing business with the City; ethical guidelines for Board members and Board staff; voter assistance; and the reporting of independent expenditures.

(2) State the reasons why action by the agency is being considered.

Reasons why rules may be changed include: technical changes to existing rules, codifying advisory opinions, and responding to amendments of the Campaign Finance Act and the New York City Charter. The Board may also propose amendments to the New York City Campaign Finance Act. Should these amendments be adopted, the Board would anticipate proposing rules in order to implement the amendments.
