INVOCATION

The Invocation was delivered by Imam Shaykh Safraz Bacchus, Imam and Spiritual Leader, Masjid Alabidin located at 104-14 127 Street, Queens N.Y. 11419.

Let us pray together.

In the name of God,
 the most gracious, the most merciful,
 the sun has risen upon our land, and the new year has dawned upon us.
 We thank you, O Lord,
 for the immense blessings you have showered upon us.
 O mighty God, make this year better than the last.
 Grant us good health, peace, and security.
 We beseech you, O Creator and sustainer, make us the means by which we feed the hungry,
 cloth the naked, shelter the homeless,
 and bring hearts together for your sake.
 Strengthen our resolve to be champions of a good that blotches out evil, and a light that eliminates darkness.
 We are weak, O Lord, so grant us the ability to fulfill the oaths we have taken to serve the citizens of our city and our nation.
 We pray for peace, O Lord,
 Lord of beauty and happiness.
 O Lord, you are the eternal,
 you are eternal life and everlasting peace
 by your essence and attributes, everlasting peace is from you,
 and it returns to you only.

O sustainer, grant the life of true peace and usher into the boat of peace.
O glorious and bounteous one,
you are the blessed and sublime,
shower us with a love that causes hate to dissipate,
unite us on the truth no matter who stands opposed,
rectify our fears that make us people who guard the scales of justice, grant the men and women of this Chamber the wisdom and courage to uphold and promote the values of our great nation.
May we honor one another and glorify your holy name in unison, and inspire in us the ability to make this world a better place for generations to come in your great and magnificent name we pray, Amen.

Council Member Adrienne E. Adams moved to spread the Invocation in full upon the record.

Such policy shall require that all organizations that wish to be considered for discretionary funding from the expense budget or for discretionary funding from the capital budget for a “non-City capital project” shall file an application with the Council or relevant City offices and/or agencies. For the purposes of this rule, a “non-City capital project” is a project for which the applicant organization is required to submit a Capital Funding Request Form for Not-for-Profit Organizations. Applications for discretionary funding from the expense budget or for discretionary funding from the capital budget for a non-City capital project shall be reviewed by the Council and/or relevant City offices and/or agencies to ensure that they are legally eligible to receive the City funds, are capable of providing the services for which they seek funding, are seeking funding for a public purpose, and are in compliance with all applicable laws and regulations. All expense applications received by the Council shall be made available to the public in a searchable on-line database in summary form. All allocations for discretionary funding from the expense budget or for discretionary funding from the capital budget shall be made available to the public in a searchable on-line database and in a downloadable, machine-readable format. All organizations that receive discretionary funding from the expense or capital budgets shall be required to complete a brief summary of how they have utilized such awarded funds.

In addition, such policy shall require completion of conflicts of interest disclosure/certification forms as specified by the Speaker from (i) all organizations seeking discretionary funding from the expense budget or discretionary funding from the capital budget for a non-City capital project, (ii) all Council Members sponsoring discretionary funding allocations and (iii) all Council Members prior to voting to designate discretionary funds. Such disclosure/certification forms shall contain either disclosure of any relationship between an organization and applicable City officials and associated persons or firms so that a determination may be made as to whether funding such organization is consistent with the City's Conflicts of Interest Laws and if so whether disclosure is necessary, or a certification that no such relationships exist.

b. Allocation of discretionary funds from the expense budget or discretionary funds from the capital budget for a non-City capital project, designation of recipients of discretionary funds from the expense budget or discretionary funds from the capital budget for a non-City capital project, and delineation of the uses of such funds shall be made solely through the budget adoption or modification process or through a discretionary funding transparency resolution. All such funds shall be distributed between and among sponsoring Council Members for allocation pursuant to a publicly disclosed formula that allocates funds either equally among members, or based upon publicly available data about differences between districts, or some combination thereof. The Speaker shall be responsible for proposing no more than one half of all dollars allocated by the Council discretionary expense funding process.

2.60. Council Members' Operating Expenses - The amounts allocated in the Council budget for the operation of individual members' offices shall be the same for each member. The Speaker may not reduce such amount for any member unless all members are subject to the same reduction. The Speaker may not supplement the amount available to any member through direct or indirect payment, provided that the Speaker may, with notice to all members, supplement the amount available to an individual Councilmember in cases of special need. It is the intent of the body that the total amount allocated for the operation of individual members' offices shall be reasonable in proportion to the amount allocated for central staff.

2.65. Prohibition against using funds from operating expenses for certain advertisements - a. No city funds appropriated to the Council (“Council funds”) shall be used by a Council Member for the purchase of advertisements in an organization's journal or bulletin in print or other form; provided, however, that for purposes of this rule, a publication of an organization that is published at least quarterly and is distributed beyond the membership of the organization to the general public shall not be deemed a journal or bulletin.

of informational or educational content relating to a governmental function or a government- sponsored event or (ii) contains any seasonal or holiday greeting or message or any congratulatory or commemorative message or (iii) contains a Council Member's likeness, picture or voice.

c. The Council shall only approve the purchase of advertisements that comply with the provisions of this rule and such payment shall only be made after a copy of such advertisement (or a detailed description of any such advertisement if not in print form) is provided to the Speaker's designee together with the invoice for such purchase.

2.70. Policies Prohibiting Discrimination and Harassment and Related Training - a. The Speaker shall establish a policy or policies prohibiting workplace discrimination and harassment, including sexual harassment, for the Council, which shall apply to all Council Members, their staff and Council central staff. b. The Speaker shall require mandatory annual participatory interactive training for all Members, their staff and Council central staff as outlined in the policy or policies established pursuant to rule 2.70a.

2.75. Assessment and Reporting - a. The Speaker shall formulate a recurrent risk factor review plan to assess and address potential risk factors associated with workplace sexual harassment, such as a homogenous workforce, language differences in the workplace, a workforce having significant power disparities and isolated and decentralized workplaces. The process herein shall commence immediately, recur periodically and cease January 31, 2022.

b. The Speaker shall publish an annual report within the Council for the first Stated meeting in February disclosing complaints of workplace sexual harassment, as defined by the Council's policy or policies prohibiting discrimination and harassment established pursuant to rule 2.70a. Such report shall track for each preceding calendar year the number of complaints alleging workplace sexual harassment and the dispositions of such complaints. The annual report shall not contain any personally identifiable information.

c. The Speaker shall distribute a discrimination and harassment climate survey. Such survey shall gauge whether Council staff are familiar with the Council's policy or policies prohibiting discrimination and harassment, consider their workplace safe and free from violations of the Council's policy or policies and believe that the Council protects the rights of its employees to pursue their duties in a respectful workplace. The climate survey shall assess whether Council staff have witnessed or experienced workplace discrimination or harassment as described by the Council's policy or policies and whether they understand Council reporting and complaint procedures. The climate survey shall also gauge whether Council staff believe discrimination or harassment is, or would be, tolerated by the Council. For supervisors and managerial employees, the climate survey shall prompt whether such supervisors and managerial employees are knowledgeable about their responsibilities with respect to the prevention of conduct prohibited by the Council's policy or policies prohibiting discrimination and harassment. The climate survey shall also prompt whether such supervisors and managerial employees are knowledgeable about the measures they may take to address complaints. Information concerning demographic variables, including, but not limited to, race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation and age, shall be solicited from survey respondents. Survey respondents may provide such demographic information, in full or in part, at their discretion.

By the close of the first year of the term, the Speaker shall disseminate the climate survey. By the close of the second year of the term, the Speaker shall assess the climate survey results, and, in response, determine and implement a preemptive action plan to create a discrimination-free and harassment-free workplace, as set forth in the Council's policy or policies established pursuant to rule 2.70a. By the close of the third year of the term, the Speaker shall refine and redistribute the climate survey. By the end of the term, the Speaker shall assess the recent climate survey results, and, in response, recommend a successive preemptive action plan. By the end of the first year of the ensuing term, and every four years thereafter, the Speaker shall address the preceding Speaker's recommendations, disseminate a climate survey, assess the climate survey results, and, in response, determine and recommend a preemptive action plan for the next Speaker. Based on each assessment and determination, the Speaker shall update the Council's policy or policies prohibiting discrimination and harassment, as necessary, established pursuant to rule 2.70a.

In the event a Speaker's term is fewer than four years, the subsequent Speaker shall maintain the four-year climate survey schedule delineated herein for the remainder of the unexpired term. In the event of two consecutive 2-year terms, the Speaker of the first term shall initiate and conclude the steps delineated herein for the first two years of a regular four-year term. The Speaker of the second term shall initiate and conclude the steps delineated herein for the final two years of a regular four-year term.

In addition, Section 30 of such law sets forth provisions governing the creation of vacancies in public office. The Committee on Rules, Privileges and Elections shall have jurisdiction over these matters. The Committee, or staff of the Committee acting under its direction, shall request such information as is reasonably necessary to review the qualifications of Council Members-elect. In addition, the Committee may determine whether particularized review of qualifications of a Council Member-elect or eligibility to serve as a Council Member is appropriate based upon information submitted or otherwise available to the Committee, or based upon failure to submit information requested in accordance with the preceding sentence. In the event that such a particularized review is conducted, the Council Member-elect, or Council Member, shall be afforded the right to be heard. If the Committee believes that a Council Member-elect should not be seated, or that a Council Member is not eligible to serve in public office, due to failure to meet the qualifications of the Public Officers Law or due to the creation of a vacancy pursuant to such law, the Committee will recommend appropriate action to the full Council. The record of the proceedings before the Committee on the matter shall be made available to the members of the Council before any such action is taken by the full Council.

The City Clerk and Clerk of the Council (Mr. McSweeney) introduced the Attorney General of the State of New York, Letitia James, to administer the oath of office to the Speaker (Council Member Adams).

Attorney General James spoke briefly to those assembled and then administered the oath of office to the Speaker (Council Member Adams).

Remarks of New York State Attorney General Letitia James as delivered

It's great to be in a body, in light of the fact that we live in a polarized and fractured world, and it's great to be in a body where we welcome a Council Member Schulman into the Divine Nine, that's really a special, it's got to be a real special place (laughter). And it's great to see that you've left my chair empty, thank you so much (laughter).

She is wise, she's intelligent, she's sharp, she's insightful, she's focused, she is committed, and she is talented. That is your Speaker, Speaker Adrienne E Adams, and I am proud and honored to be here amongst all of you. As a fellow public servant, and it's important that we all recognize and remember that we are not here to serve ourselves, but to serve others and to serve constituents who desperately need us at a time like this.

As was mentioned, Adrienne E. Adams has broken barriers, and all of New York City is fortunate for that fact. And she is an instrument for a larger cause of justice. She's relied on her lived experiences and the wisdom that she and all of you, her colleagues, have amassed to help move New York City forward.

Adrienne has led this City Council in a number of bills that have been mentioned to address persistent racial disparities and maternal health, and to expand access to reproductive rights.

Under her leadership, she has expanded support for crime victims in communities that experience high levels of violence, but who are underserved by traditional services, so that they too can enjoy the bounty of this city. She's created a $5.1 million budget initiative to fund community safety and victim services at the neighborhood level, because by repairing the breach, we improve public safety all throughout the city of New York.

She secured funding to establish New York State's first for trauma recovery centers for those who are struggling with drug abuse, struggling, unfortunately, of opioid abuse, fentanyl, and xylazine, and all of us must work to address these issues.

Adrienne E. Adams, and all of you in this room, have prioritized addressing fairness in this city's workforce, striking a mighty blow against structures that breed inequities by passing legislative packages to confront the historic lack of diversity and gender, and embraced base pay disparities that impact at workforce.

She also established the CUNY Reconnect Program that has helped thousands of working-age New Yorkers return to college, because she understands that education is transformative and can transform the lives of countless New Yorkers.

I can stand here and cite all of the accomplishments that this young woman has made during these past two years, but I know that God is not finished with you yet and that more is expected. And I also know that as someone said, "Hope is the companion of power and the mother of success," and in this woman, she is both hopeful and successful and that is why she is the Speaker of this body.

You are truly an inspirational Council Speaker, a role model to many little girls, black, and white, and Latino, and Asian they all look to you. And I am sure that you will be just as effective and dynamic as you have been in your in your last term, as you will be in the next.

I thank my friend, Adrienne E. Adams, on a great four years, and I know we are looking forward to what comes next. All that I say is that God surround you and keep you safe, and that you walk with him, and when you walk with him you feel his presence and know that he is with you in each and every decision that you make, and know that God is in control of all of us.

And, so, I have the honor and privilege of issuing the oath of office. And, so, Madam Speaker, if you would please join me, as well as your husband.

At this point, the Attorney General administered the oath of the office of Speaker to the Honorable Adrienne E. Adams:

I, Adrienne E. Adams do solemnly swear or affirm that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of the State of New York, and the Charter of the City of New York, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the Office of the Speaker of the New York City Council in the 28th District [in Queens], in the City of New York according to the best of my ability.

The City Clerk and Clerk of the Council (Mr. McSweeney) then yielded the floor to Council Member Adams, the newly re-elected Speaker, as those assembled applauded and cheered.

At this point, the Speaker (Council Member Adams) delivered the following remarks to those assembled:

Remarks of the Speaker (Council Member Adams) as delivered

Good afternoon to everyone and what a happy new year! I of course want to recognize and thank my sister in service in New York Attorney General, Letitia James! (applause)

Tish, with everything that you're working on in the interest of the people of the state of New York, I really appreciate you taking time out of your incredibly busy schedule, and doing what we know you got to do, to be here for me and with me today.

In case you all don't know, Tish has been a constant mentor and inspiration for me even before I first stepped foot in this Council Chamber seven years ago. And as our Public Advocate, Tish flawlessly officiated our Stated Meetings - as she said, promptly stayed seated in that starred red chair. And she's been such a powerful, positive influence for me and countless women throughout our city. Tish your trailblazing work continues to uplift all New Yorkers and we're so proud, so proud of you leadership, so proud of your persistence, so proud of your fearlessness in the pursuit of justice and equity for the people of the state of New York. I love you and I thank you so much. (applause)

Next, I want to take a moment to thank the hard-working staff of the New York City Council. Thank you all staff, every unit, every department! (applause)

My sergeants, my security, my detail, and of course, I cannot leave out my own District 28 office team, which is led by my District Chief of Staff, Tyrell "Ty" Hankerson. (applause)

Ty has been with me since day one of my membership on the City Council, and I thank him for his dedicated public service. We could not have accomplished what we did over these years without your commitment to this city. We're so grateful for your contributions to this Council, and we truly look forward to the next two years, or as Kalman [Yeger] said... (Kalman's got the stopwatch on, because it's his stopwatch too), 23 months and 28 days... We didn't get to the seconds, thank you Kalman, thank you for that too.

And, finally, thank you to our partners in labor, advocacy, and government who continue to support the health and safety of New Yorkers day in and day out. Your partnership is vital to the success of this legislative body and to all New Yorkers. We cannot thank you enough.

Two years ago, I was proud to become the first Black Speaker of the New York City Council; the first wife, the first mother, the first grandmother chosen for this position by the first women-majority, and the very most diverse Council elected by New Yorkers in our history. And once again we have historically gotten a diverse Council and our women-majority remains – and the men that “get it”. Together we do reflect the rich diversity of our great city. We're made up of New Yorkers from all different backgrounds - we're nurses, social workers, educators, community leaders, advocates, small business owners, and so much more. Our members have various experiences with how the systems of our government impact the people in our communities. We have children, grandchildren, and family members whose current and future well-being depends on the work we accomplish, just as it does for each of our constituents. The diversity of this Council and its women majority have led us to govern differently than our predecessors. Our perspectives have shaped our legislative priorities, empowering us to address long-standing issues that have not been adequately prioritized. Our relationships to our communities have been enabled us to unlock equitable opportunities that were previously inaccessible to so many New Yorkers who look like us. This allowed us to make strides in confronting ingrained challenges within our city and society, which will require our sustained commitment to fully address.

For example, we took action to improve maternal health for all New Yorkers, passing a historic package of laws to push this city towards addressing the severe racial disparities that disproportionately harm Black women, and birthing people and other people of color. When Black New Yorkers are nine times more likely to die from a pregnancy related issue than white New Yorkers, our attention must be focused on resolving this long-standing crisis. We knew this, though, as more than a statistic as mothers, and grandmothers, parents, and spouses and loving friends, our experiences and stories, including my own informed, our work is lawmakers. We must renew our commitment and build upon our efforts to end this persisting injustice that continues to harm families.

We advanced our Mental Health Roadmap, which recognizes community based care programs as proven solutions to promote well-being and prevent crises.

We expanded the City's commitment of resources to these underinvested in programs as part of a critical intervention to address the mental health crisis. However, getting New Yorkers the help they need will require us to make even deeper investments into our communities, which we are prepared to do.

To bolster economic and educational opportunities we expanded the City's Summer Youth Employment program and pioneered CUNY Reconnect to help working age New Yorkers finish their degrees to improve their earning potential. Thousands of New Yorkers seized this opportunity. We quickly blew past our initial goal to reenroll 10,000 students to reach over 25,000 New Yorkers, the majority of whom are women and people of color who previously left school because of family or work obligations. This is tremendous.

Together we have prioritized equitable access to opportunity by expanding Fair Fares, creating pipelines to civil service jobs, and advancement for women people of color and marginalized New Yorkers, supporting a healthier industrial sector in our city and promoting entrepreneurial and small business growth for underserved communities.

We must continue to take critical steps forward to improve equitable economic outcomes for all New Yorkers and working families across our city.

We're most effective when we treat our challenges as the interconnected issues they are rather than as isolated ones. The Council's approach to public safety has been a prime example. Public safety is access to mental health as well as resources and opportunities that help New Yorkers meet their basic needs. We have prioritized pushing the City to better meet the needs of crime survivors and communities that experience violence the most, rather than simply paying lip service and using their tragedies to advance in effective policies that make us less safe as so often happens. Our city and communities deserve a more sensible conversation on public safety that advances new comprehensive safety solutions and is built upon lessons learned from our past mistakes. We have pursued an all-of-the-above approach to public safety, because this is the pathway to contend with the legacies of harm that have impacted generations of New Yorkers - particularly the underserved Black and Latino communities.

We have also recognized housing as public safety, and begin confronting our City's housing crisis as the pathway to a safer New York.

We started to shift how the Council approaches equitable housing development by making clear that we are most successful when all stakeholders work together, and all of us contribute to solving the housing crisis.

The Council will have to be a constructive force in helping our city emerge stronger from the severe lack of homes that is deepened our crisis of affordability and homelessness. By treating housing as a part of an ecosystem that can help deliver health, safety and prosperity, we are better able to utilize housing as a tool to invest holistically in the strength of our New Yorkers. That is how we can help New Yorkers remain here in the city they love.

We passed critical laws to advance climate leadership and environmental justice in our city, as well as so many other critical solutions, while prioritizing our oversight role to hold city agencies and the administration accountable.

We stood our ground on principled fights when the best interest of New Yorkers and our city were at stake. We exercised our role as the equal branch of government through checks and balances to executive authority, which helped to strengthen our democracy and the governance of New York

We worked with our leaders in government - our elective leaders - as we shout out today Congressman Gregory Meeks (applause), Congressman Adriano Espaillat (applause), and our former colleague, Paul Vallone (applause).

We have so much to be proud of. Our work over these past two years has made a marked difference in our constituents' lives. To our returning members, I thank you. Your tenacity, thoughtfulness, and service on behalf of your districts and our city make our city stronger. Your leadership is critical to this body.

To our new members, Yusef, Kristy, Chris, Susan, we welcome you! (applause)

The various experiences and expertise you bring to this body will be so important for the challenges ahead of us. I encourage you all to rely on my office, central staff, and your colleagues as resources to navigate the intricacies of your new roles and the legislative process.

While we each represent unique districts with many distinct needs together, colleagues, we make up one city and one body. Our shared commitment to service and the goal to improve life for all New Yorkers is the North Star that must unite us all. As a body, we are stronger together, and can succeed by working together.

While we helped our city emerge from the worst of a global pandemic, our work is not yet finished. Our efforts towards a full recovery are just as critical as they were before.

Our full leadership team will be announced in the coming days. Today I can say that the selections for part of it will include Diana Ayala as our Deputy Speaker. (applause)

Amanda Farías as our Majority Leader. (applause)

And Selvena Brooks-Powers as Majority Whip - placing all women in the top leadership positions of the Council and a Latina as Majority Leader for the first time in history. (applause)

I am confident that together we will help lead this Council and prepare the institution for future success.

And, colleagues, I especially want to thank Council Member Keith Powers and express my gratitude for his leadership, which will remain integral to our team and to this Council. (applause and cheering)

As a body, we must be tenacious in our leadership and remain clear, focused, and humble in the face of our challenges, because they are deeply ingrained in our society.

We will need to renew our efforts to address the pre-existing disparities widened by the pandemic that block women, working families, and our communities of color from securing stability and opportunity. Although the equitable future we seek may take years to arrive, every ounce of progress we secure today will bring us closer to what New Yorkers deserve. And when the path forward feels muddled, we can work with advocates, organizations, and community stakeholders to clear the way, because they are our partners.

When the challenges feel too big to handle on our own, we can work with our colleagues across all levels of government, because the crises we face require our collective efforts to solve. And when we're short on answers, colleagues, we can sit with our constituents and hear their stories and solutions, because they possess a wealth of experiences, and knowledge that can guide our way forward.

Colleagues, together we can chip away at the injustices that our communities have endured for too long and deliver more of what New Yorkers deserve. We can move our city forward.

And as I look at this brand new body, I have such high hopes for what we all will accomplish together. It is an honor of a lifetime to serve the great people of New York City alongside of all of you, and to serve all of you.

Thank you! (applause)

Michael McSweeney
City Clerk and Clerk of the Council
Executive Office
141 Worth Street
New York, NY 10013

Dear Mr. McSweeney:

At a duly convened meeting, we, the undersigned members of the Minority (Republican) Delegation of the Council of the City of New York, hereby designate and appoint Joseph C. Borelli as Minority Leader of the Council of the City of New York, pursuant to Rule 4.10 of the Rules of the Council of the City of New York for the term which commenced on January 1, 2024.

Signed: Joann Ariola, Joseph C. Borelli, David M. Carr, Vickie Paladino, Inna Vernikov and Kristy Marmorato

Received, Ordered, Printed, and Filed.

At this point, the Speaker (Council Member Adams) yielded the floor to the re-designated Minority Leader (Council Member Borelli). The Minority Leader (Council Member Borelli) delivered his remarks to those assembled.

Remarks of the Minority Leader (Council Member Borelli) as delivered

You know, unlike the Speaker, my standing ovation usually happens when I sit down. (laughter) You all get excited.

First, I want to congratulate the Speaker, for a number of reasons, many of which were highlighted before, but one thing that was left unsaid was that she is the first Speaker, in over a decade, to have to be Speaker and deal with the challenges of office while at the same time running for reelection and worrying about the Council's reelection. That hasn't been done in a decade, and to that particular Speaker's credit, she didn't know she was running for reelection up until about three months – four months before she had to start running. So you really had a more challenging experience than many Speakers who came before you, and that should be a part of this record and part of your commendation. (applause)

So, I'd like to briefly welcome the new members today. And to remind us all that we are going to be part of this body on the 400th Anniversary of this city. For 400 years, four centuries, people have sat in these seats before us, and each with their own unique visions and goals and agendas and ideas of what makes a New Yorker, a New Yorker. They've managed to keep this city going for a long time. This office that we inherited - with all due respect to my friends in Congress - this is 200 years older than your office. (laughter) And I had to look it up, it's actually a year older than the Attorney General – wherever she happens to be right now. But, don't forget that.

And in this building there's so many paintings and plaques dedicated to people who have come before us. And I sat in the Minority Leader's Office for two years now – a little over two years – and I finally decided to look up who is the subject of this massive painting that happens to be located behind my desk. It's a guy named Ward Benjamin Burnett and he was a general in the Mexican American War. And that's not why his picture is here in New York City in City Hall - he is here because in the 1850's he was tasked with creating the water system that was to supply the 140,000 people who lived in the city of Brooklyn at that time. And when he got the job, when he was hired as the chief engineer, he said it would cost $4,025,000. Job gets done a few years later, he has to produce a report to the Common Council. It turns out 167 years ago, they liked reporting bills, too. So, he gives this report and he says the final price is $4,025,000. So the imparting wisdom I'll leave with you is that if you are diligent and careful with the public's money, and you treat it as your own, even in the headwinds of this budget crisis that we're about to confront, you too can have your portrait in the Minority Leaders Office, thank you. (laughter)
