Mayor Eric Adams appoints Laura Kavanagh as Fire Commissioner

n Oct. 27, New York City Mayor Eric Adams announced the appointment and swearing in of Laura Kavanagh as commissioner of the New York City Fire Department (FDNY). Kavanagh brings years of experience building a safer and more efficient Department and City government to keep New Yorkers safe, previously serving as first deputy commissioner and, most recently, as acting fire commissioner. As FDNY commissioner, Kavanagh will oversee the day-to-day administration of the agency's 17,000 employees and $2 billion budget.

"Laura Kavanagh is a proven and tested leader, and I'm proud to announce her historic appointment today," said Mayor Adams. "No matter her role, Commissioner Kavanagh has always been a leader—from helping to lead the FDNY's response to the Ebola outbreak in 2015, to steering the ship during the COVID-19 pandemic, to directing a firefighter recruitment program that resulted in the most diverse applicant pool in the Department's history. New Yorkers and New York City's Bravest deserve an exceptional leader, and Commissioner Kavanagh has the vision, the skills and the compassion to lead the FDNY into the future."

"Commissioner Kavanagh has the expertise needed to lead the FDNY and make this Department the best it can be," said Deputy Mayor for Public Safety Philip Banks III. "I've had the privilege of working alongside the commissioner this year and look forward to continuing to do so to support our Bravest and keeping our City safe."

port our Bravest and keeping our City safe." "For nearly a decade, I have served, learned from and worked on behalf of the New York City Fire Department," said FDNY Commissioner Laura Kavanagh. "I have seen the sacrifices our men and women make, the talent and training they possess and the bravery they display saving lives and protecting our City. This is the greatest city in the world and the greatest fire Department in the world. To serve both is the honor of a lifetime. I am excited and grateful for the opportunity to lead this great department, and I thank the more than 17,000 firefighters, EMTs, paramedics, fire marshals, fire inspectors and civilian personnel for all they do 24/7 to keep our City safe."

"I count today among the endless examples of history being made one woman at a time—and what a special woman the honorable Laura Kavanagh is," said U.S. Representative Yvette Clarke. "To see a lifelong, fearless advocate and devoted New Yorker such as Ms. Kavanagh ascend to the pinnacle of her field as commissioner of the FDNY not only fills me with pride as her friend, but instills a deep comfort in me as someone who calls this city home. My most sincere congratulations to her for this well-deserved distinction, and I look forward to every possibility on the FDNY's horizons under her leadership."

"Laura Kavanagh is a dedicated public servant, crisis-tested leader and outstanding choice to serve as commissioner of the New York City Fire Department," said U.S. Representative Hakeem Jeffries. "I congratulate her on her appointment and look forward to supporting her work to keep New Yorkers safe."

"Today is a historic day in New York City as Mayor Adams swears in the first female commissioner in the Fire Department's 157-year history," said U.S. Representative Ritchie Torres. "Laura Kavanagh brings years of experience and leadership to the FDNY. Her appointment as commissioner will mean a safer New York and a stronger FDNY. In the aftermath of the deadly Twin Parks North West fire in the Bronx, Commissioner Kavanagh acted with urgency to support our borough and provide thorough investigations. I look forward to working alongside her to support the FDNY in ensuring first-rate fire safety standards." "The members of FDNY bravely protect New Yorkers ev-

"The members of FDNY bravely protect New Yorkers every single day, and they deserve to be represented by the very best," said New York Attorney General Letitia James. "Laura Kavanagh has proven to be a dedicated public servant who is committed to supporting the needs of New York's bravest and all our communities. Today, our City makes history and all New Yorkers proud by welcoming Commissioner Kavanagh as the first woman commissioner of the FDNY. I applaud Mayor Adams for choosing the best to lead our City forward, and I have every confidence that Commissioner Kavanagh will continue to protect all New Yorkers."

"I'd like to congratulate New York City Fire Commissioner Laura Kavanagh on her appointment," said New York City Councilmember Joann Ariola, chair, Committee on Fire and Emergency Management. "Commissioner Kavanagh has proven herself to be a leader that has been on the ground with firefighters through some of their worst times. She has the knowledge and vision that will carry the Department forward. As chair of the New York City Council Fire and Emergency Management Committee, I look forward to working with Commissioner Kavanagh to pass legislation that will ensure the safety of our firefighters and our City's residents." "As the former chair of the Committee on Fire and Emer-

"As the former chair of the Committee on Fire and Emergency Management, I spent four years working alongside Commissioner Kavanaugh during some of the toughest days in the Fire Department's recent history," said New York City Councilmember Joseph Borelli. "I have absolute confidence in her abilities and know she will serve the City well for years to come. She knows her stuff and she cares, and we are lucky to have her."

"As president of the Uniformed Firefighters Association, I would like to congratulate Laura Kavanagh on her appointment to commissioner of the Fire Department of the City of New York," said Andrew Ansbro, president, Uniformed Firefighters Association (UFA). "During her tenure and throughout the whole COVID-19 pandemic, she has been a stabilizing leader whose accessibility has fostered an open dialogue between the UFA and the FDNY. We intend to maintain this strong working relationship with Commissioner Kavanagh and wish her the best of luck leading the greatest fire department in the world as we protect the lives of New York's eight million residents and untold millions of commuters and tourists."

"We are happy that Mayor Adams has selected Laura Kavanagh as commissioner," said Oren Barzilay, president, Uniformed EMS, Paramedics, & Fire Inspectors, Local 2507. "Laura has a strong record advocating for members of EMS FDNY. We look forward to continued success in working with her."

"The United Women Firefighters Association congratulates Laura Kavanagh on her historic appointment as the first female commissioner of the Fire Department of the City of New York," said Jackie-Michelle Martinez, president, United Women Firefighters (UWF). "Women have bravely served in the FDNY since 1982. This appointment of Laura Kavanagh highlights the ability, dedication and service which women demonstrate every day to the people of New York. Commissioner Kavanagh's leadership abilities and managerial skills will serve the FDNY well. The UWF looks forward to working with Commissioner Kavanagh in the future. As the number of female firefighters increase, there will be continued interest in ensuring and creating a fair and amicable work environment. We anticipate working with her as we have done in her previous roles within the Department."

"We are very pleased with the mayor's decision to appoint Laura Kavanagh to FDNY commissioner," said Vincent Variale, president, Uniformed EMS Officers Association, Local 3621. "She has been supportive, caring and demonstrates strong leadership abilities. We look forward to continue working with her on the many issues that affect our members and their ability to provide the vital life-saving services to the people of New York City."

"I have a good relationship with Commissioner Kavanagh, and we have accomplished a lot together as she served as first deputy commissioner and acting commissioner," said Dellon Morgan, president, FDNY Vulcans Society. "There is a lot of work to be done, but I'm looking forward to continuing this progress with her as commissioner."

About Laura Kavanagh

Commissioner Kavanagh has been a key leader in the agency's response to major incidents, including the Ebola outbreak of 2015 and the COVID-19 pandemic, as well as spearheading key policy initiatives for the FDNY. Kavanagh directed the firefighter recruitment campaign that yielded the most diverse applicant pool in the Department's history and has led to more women serving as FDNY firefighters than ever before. She also paved the way for technology innovation through the development of applications that provide situational awareness to frontline members, created a fire safety program that installed and distributed smoke alarms in the most at-risk neighborhoods, and has advocated for first responders at all levels of government.

first responders at all levels of government. Before serving at the FDNY, Kavanagh worked at City Hall as a special assistant to Mayor de Blasio. Previously, she worked in management and campaign consulting with non-profits, community-based organizations and unions to advance their organizational goals. In that time, she held senior roles on presidential, mayoral, congressional and local campaigns.

Kavanagh is an alumnus of the Executive Leaders Program at the Naval Post Graduate School's Center for Homeland Defense and Security and the Stanford Graduate School of Business' Summer Institute. She has a bachelor's degree in political science and international relations from Whittier College and a master's degree in public administration from Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs. ■

Mandatory EEO-related trainings

Below, please find the links to the mandatory EEO-related trainings that you are required to complete by Dec. 2. These mandatory trainings are on the DCAS' platform, and include, but are not limited to the following content:

1) Everybody Matters: EEO and Diversity and Inclusion Training for NYC Employees (e-Learning): Provides the employee with a comprehensive overview on the EEO principles, workplace harassment and discrimination, including harassment and discrimination based on age, diversity and inclusion, and racial equity; outlines the responsibilities of supervisors and officers; and where to go for help if the employee needs assistance or would like to report a matter. All four (4) modules must be completed.

2) Sexual Harassment Prevention Training (e-Learning): Provides the definition of sexual harassment, how to recognize sexual harassment, bystander intervention and where to go for help if the employee needs assistance or would like to report a matter.

3) Disability Awareness and Etiquette (e-Learning): Provides an overview of the rights of City employees who have a disability, what constitutes a disability and when and how to assist people with disabilities, and provides an understanding of the barriers that people with disabilities may face.

To log in to the training, please enter your seven-(7) digit employee reference number (ERN) and your last name. You will be able to print out your training certificate after you complete the training. If you have any DCAS login issues, please e-mail DCAS at Citywide Compliance at ccompliance@dcas. nyc.gov and provide them with a brief description of the problem you encounter within the training. If you have any other questions or concerns, please contact Attorney Jiggetts at (718) 999-0683 or via e-mail at Sabrina.jiggetts@fdny.nyc.gov.

Holiday party

This year's FDNY holiday party is being held for Headquarters staff and their invited guests Friday, Dec. 9 from 6–10 p.m. at the Fire Museum at 278 Spring St. in Manhattan. Tickets are $50 per person and on sale now through Dec. 1. They can be purchased through the Fire Commissioner's Office from Angel Scott. Please make checks payable to FDNY Foundation; cash payments also accepted.

team and will hold the in-house title of deputy commissioner, is responsible for creating, implementing, assessing and gaining support for diversity and inclusion efforts agency wide. The position of FDNY chief diversity and inclusion officer was created in 2015. Cooper is the third person to hold the position.

"Kwame Cooper is a dedicated public servant who has bravely served as a firefighter and chief officer in Los Angeles for nearly four decades, and now brings his unique experience and vast knowledge of fire service, diversity and inclusion to the FDNY," said Commissioner Kavanagh. "He understands the culture of the fire service and knows firsthand what needs to be improved to create a more inclusive environment for all the men and women of the FDNY."

"Diversity, equity, and inclusion create unique challenges and opportunities for fire service leadership, and throughout my career as a firefighter—and later leading as a fire chief myself—I have overseen important initiatives across the country to meet those challenges head on and improve how firefighters treat one another in the work environment," said Chief Diversity and Inclusion Officer Cooper. "I believe inclusiveness is a fundamental principle of leadership, and I am honored to join the FDNY and help this incredible organization build upon its successes and achieve its goals."

Deputy Commissioner Cooper will report directly to the fire commissioner and will be a member of the executive leadership team, ensuring diversity initiatives are implemented in all bureaus within the department. He will also ensure compliance with Department of Citywide Administrative Services (DCAS) and Law Department guidelines and will also serve as liaison to employee affinity and fraternal organizations.

Previously, he served as LAFD's assistant fire marshal of their Fire Prevention and Public Safety Bureau (2014-2016), Assistant Chief of their Training and Support Bureau (2014), assistant chief employee relations officer (2014) and assistant chief of their Emergency Services Bureau (2011-2014). Since 2019, he has served as a consultant on the creation of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, Fire Chiefs Equity and Inclusion Council. The Council uses qualitative and quantitative research of demographic data to identify and eradicate sources of discrimination, harassment and hiring biases for African American, Hispanic, women and LGBTQ+ individuals in the fire and emergency medical services.

He has served as an adjunct instructor at the Carl Holmes Executive Development Institute since 1993, where he has trained thousands of firefighters from around the nation in leadership, diversity management and inclusion, executive coaching, public education and risk management. Since 1998, he has also served as an adjunct instructor at the National Fire Academy, teaching subjects to firefighters from around the country including leadership, diversity, public education and cultural competency in the fire service.

CDIO Cooper holds a doctorate in leadership and organization development–with an emphasis on diversity, equity and inclusion—from Grand Canyon University, where his dissertation focused on issues of firehouse climate and diversity. He also holds a master's degree in organizational leadership from Woodbury University and a Bachelor of Science in occupational studies from Long Beach State University. He is a graduate of the Harvard University Executive Leadership Education Program, the Executive Fire Officer Program from the National Fire Academy, the Carl Holmes Executive Development Institute and the Los Angeles Police Department West Point Leadership Academy.

He serves on the board of directors for the National Fire Protection Association and previously served on the board of directors of the National Fire Academy. He is a member of the Stentorians—the association of African Americans in the fire service—and is also a member of the Caribbean Association of Fire Chiefs, where he serves as part of a team that develops, implements and instructs an annual Junior and Senior Officer Leadership Academy in the Caribbean and the British Virgin Islands. ■

Meet Simranjeet S. Chadha

1. What is your name, title and number of years at FDNY? Where are you currently assigned, and what are your work-related responsibilities?

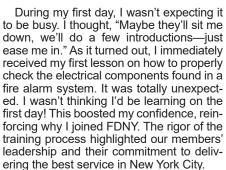

My name is Simranjeet Singh Chadha, and I've been an assistant electrical engineer in the Bureau of Fire Prevention for three years.

I review fire alarm plans for the City and make sure that they are compliant with the fire, mechanical and electrical codes. We ensure these steps are properly done before plans for installations happen. My team covers residential, commercial and industrial structures, as well as daycare centers. And, to date, I've worked on almost every type of building, communications and auxiliary system you'd see in New York City

New York City. 2. What called you to a life of public service at FDNY?

It was really important, and super meaningful, for me to be part of a public service institution. There are many ways to serve New Yorkers, including civil service, but working with fire plans is one of the ways we can ensure everything is safe for people before they engage within these spaces.

3. Can you share one of your most memorable moments while working at FDNY?

4. What does "We Are FDNY" mean to you?

"We Are FDNY" represents family: There's a strong sense of camaraderie, no matter what. It reminds me that I can always count on my team, superiors included, and talk about almost anything. I feel like there's always someone to help and guide, which helps with learning and achieving new things.

5. What is your superpower (best quality or skill)?

My superpower is my memory! Once I see something, especially something organized and detailed like a plan, I can talk about it in detail. If you were to ask me about it two years later, I could tell you exactly where the device was.

6. How does your role support the public safety mission of the FDNY?

My job is to review plans submitted by companies to make sure that they are setting up the correct systems for their occupancy requirements. We strive to ensure each structure is protected according to fire code. Technically, even before firefighter operations come into the picture, we make sure everything is in place based on the most recent code updates and emergency exit plans. We're literally responsible for installing prevention mechanisms that hopefully minimize fires and fire damage. ■

Great work by FDNY and NYPD members in the TCS New York City Marathon! Congrats, team FDNY, on your Mayor's Cup victory!
