THE TEST:

The multiple-choice test will be given at a computer terminal. Your score on this test will be used to determine your place on an eligible list. You must achieve a score of at least 70% to pass the test.

The multiple-choice test is designed to assess the extent to which candidates have certain abilities determined to be important to the performance of the tasks of a Gardener (CUNY). Task areas to be tested are as follows: Planning Activities, Maintenance Activities, Operating and Maintaining Gardening Equipment, Community Activities, Training Activities, Technical Activities, and Report Writing Activities.

The test may include questions on horticulture, plant diseases, botany, plant maintenance, and the prevention and removal of invasive plants; and other related areas.

The test may also include questions requiring the use of any of the following abilities:

Deductive Reasoning - Applying general rules to specific problems to come up with logical answers. Example: A Gardener (CUNY) is responsible for following directions on how to adjust an herbicide sprayer to minimize drift on a windy day.

Inductive Reasoning - Combining separate pieces of information or specific answers to problems to form general rules or conclusions; to think of possible reasons for why things go together. Example: A Gardener (CUNY) is responsible for examining damaged plants and referring to source material to determine the cause (i.e., insects or disease).

Information Ordering - Correctly following a rule or set of rules or actions in a certain order. The rule or set of rules used must be given. The things or actions to be put in order can include numbers, letters, words, pictures, procedures, sentences and mathematical or logical operations. Example: A Gardener (CUNY) is responsible for ensuring that the correct flowers are being planted in the correct order based on the blooming schedule.

Number Facility - The degree to which adding, subtracting, multiplying, and dividing can be done quickly and correctly. This can be in steps in other operations like finding percentages. Example: A Gardener (CUNY) is responsible for calculating the correct amount of fertilizer needed for a specific area.

Problem Sensitivity - Identifying when something is wrong or likely to go wrong. It includes being able to identify the whole problem, as well as elements of the problem. Example: A Gardener (CUNY) is responsible for determining the appropriate course of action when pests are damaging plants.

Visualization - Imagining how something would look when it is moved around or when its parts are moved or rearranged. It requires the forming of mental images of how patterns or objects would look after certain changes, such as unfolding or rotation. One has to predict how an object, set of objects or pattern will appear after the changes have been carried out. Example: A Gardener (CUNY) is responsible for planning how a new flower bed would look if planted next to older flower beds.

Written Expression - Utilizing English words or sentences in writing so that others will understand. Example: A Gardener (CUNY) is responsible for writing directions on how to mulch a specific species of shrubs.

Certain questions may need to be answered on the basis of documents or other information supplied to the candidates on the date of the multiple-choice exam.
