

Program Overview

- The Women and HIV/AIDS Unit was implemented in 1997 in response to the increase in the number of AIDS cases among women, especially African American and Latina women.
- The Female Condom Education and Distribution Project began in 1998 to make female condoms available to women in New York City. The Women and HIV/AIDS Unit developed a standard for citywide education about the proper use of the female condom, and distribution of the female condom by Community Based Organizations (CBOs).
- The program collaborates with its community partners to share information and to address critical issues regarding HIV transmission and prevention, and to strategize, design, and implement HIV interventions for adult and adolescent females.
- The program provides training and technical assistance support to CBOs seeking to develop and/or enhance female condom education and distribution services for their clients.
- The program works to build communication linkages by convening The Female Condom Advisory Committee. The committee makes recommendations on issues related to the distribution of and education about the female condom in New York City.

CBOs interested in participating in the Female Condom Education and Distribution Project should send us the following information: experience providing HIV prevention services to at-risk populations; and a plan of action which explains how the female condom will be used to enhance your agency's HIV prevention program. Upon review and approval, a member of our staff will contact the CBO to schedule a program orientation meeting.

The Women and HIV/AIDS Unit

Female Condom Education and Distribution Project:

Participating Community Based Organizations (CBOs) are trained by staff of the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, Women and HIV/AIDS Unit in female sexuality and the female condom. Upon completion of training, the CBOs provide education and distribute the female condom free of charge to their clients.

The following CBOs provide HIV/AIDS prevention education and female condoms free of charge:
